It's Hard To Say

Ray struggles to say the most important three words.

Listen, okay, and...

(Sighs)

You can do this...

I need you to listen...well, I want to say...this isn't...
...it's hard to say and...I'm not good at this as you can see and...

I'm trying my best...I want to tell you something that I have never, ever, ever, ever, never, ever told another person in my life and so this is important to...

I don't think I can...I need to breath...

I don't think I can - you know what...? Let's forget this and...wait...

I want to pretend that I didn't say anything and move on because I'm feeling right now really vulnerable
...and I don't like it...not one bit...not at all...because I'm falling apart...

...okay, okay, okay...!

I am going to say it, yes, say it, say it, say what I've been meaning to say to you for over the last few days, weeks, okay, month, three months actually, I know I'm stalling, I'm not good at this...

I said that already, I think, I'm doing my best, well, I know I've said that already...

...I...

...should get this out before I pass out...

I..love you.
